Car firm's 25th anniversary

Malton-based Classic and Sportscar Centre celebrated 25 years in business at the National Railway Museum in York with a black tie dinner for 230 people.

Staff, family and friends were joined by long-term customers and famous faces including Lord and Lady Steel of Aikwood and former England rugby captain Martin Johnson (pictured, right, with the company's CEO James Szkiler).

The guest speaker for the evening was motoring journalist and TV presenter Quentin Willson.

The evening was a huge success and was made even more special with the attendance of a 1947 Bentley MKIV previously owned by the Szkiler family at the time the business was set up.
